STUDENT SOCIETY MEETING

MONDAY SEPTEMBER 30

Students' Council is asking you to elect four councillors on October 4th to represent the four schools on Campus.

The people holding these posts have done an excellent job, and it is an insult to them, to Council, to student government, and most of all to yourselves if these positions are not adequately campaigned for and voted to good strong people.

Apathy, ever present in any university, has been especially evident at Macdonald. Last year's Council President succeeded in making definite inroads into this student laxity. I hope that this year will see even greater enthusiasm, with many nominations and heavy voting. It's up to you, the student body, to show your worth.

What is the strength of Students' Council In short, the Council is only as strong as the student body makes it. We have to earn the right to be powerful and the key step in this process is to put the right people in Council positions. The best way to demonstrate our desire for student government is through a vigourous and had-fought campaign envolving quality candidates.

What type of person should be on Council? The person must be forceful, versatile, tactful, energetic, and above all sincere. There is one specific criterium that should be mentioned. Any person elected to Council must be prepared to accept responsibilities which may be beyond the official scope of his office. In other words, the Councillor for Agriculture may find himself in charge of student cards or making arrangements for a banquet. The Councillor for Education may be called upon to put out the student hand book or investigate the possibilities of using the Arboretum for a student orientation program. Any person elected to Council is there primarily to tend to the affairs of his or her elected position. Secondly, the person must be ready to accept the responsibilities of the Council as a whole

N.B.

On Monday Sept. 30 the first Student Society meeting of the college year 1963 - 64 will be held in the Assembly Hall at 4 P.M. Arrangements have been made to enable all students to attend. Buses will be held until after the meeting to accommodate commuters and the coffee shop will be closed.

Nominations of Officers

The candidates to fill the positions of councillors from Post Grads, Education, Home Economics, and Agriculture will acknowledge their nomination and outline their platforms. The president of Students' Council will outline his programme for the coming year at this time.

The New Coffee Shop

The floor will be open for discussion of the proposed new coffee shop and rec. center during the proceedings.

Do You Have A View To Air

Any complaints, queries or appreciations which you may wish to bring to the attention of council may be brought up from the floor during discussion.

NEW COFFEE SHOP COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED

A Coffee Shop Committee has been set up through the co-operation of the Students' Council and Administration to consider the administrative and financiel problems of our New Coffee Shop. This Committee, which consists of three staff members and three students, will direct Coffee Shop affairs during its construction until its opening when the Committee will be dissolved. The six Committee members are Miss Raymond, Jane Hall, Dr. H.F. MacRae, Mr. W.C. Shipley, Jim Banting, and Brian Kennedy.

Mis Raymond, of the School of Household Science, served as last years Honourary President of the Recreation Center. Miss Raymond's thorough knowledge of institutional administration coupled with her Rec. Center experience will prove to be invaluable to the New Coffee Shop Committee.

Dr. H.F. MacRae, with the Department of Animal Science, is a Class of '54 graduate in Chemistry of Macdonald College. Dr. MacRea's experience as President of the Student's Council in 1953-54 will be an asset to the Committee.

Mr. W.C. Shipley, another graduate of Macdonald is the third staff member. Mr. Shipley graduated in Agricultural Economics and is at present Secretary-Registrar of the College.

Jane Hall, one of the students on the Committee, will act as Secretary. Jane has been active in many campus organizations and is past Publicity Director for Winter Carnival '63.

Jim Banting, one of the most active students on campus, is at present a Council Member and President of the Gold Key Society. Jim is

A new era is approaching for the Failt-Ye Times! This newspaper will soon be receiving over 100 articles a month from college newspapers across Canada, even by wire if deadlines are imminent. These will concern topics of interest to students on this campus, in this province, and across the nation. Several of these articles will be printed in the paper and will make available a previously impossible amount of variety, style and interest for this publication. Newspapers from every province share their best works with the Canadian University Press, the organization making all of this possible. These articles are passed on to us at a very nominal rate. Imagine the horizons opened up to our staff, no longer limited to the happenings on our own small campus, but suddenly linked with brothers at UBC, Toronto, Dalhousie U., Memorial U., even our cousin, The McGill Daily.

Canadian University Press was formed in 1938 with support from NFCUS, its first president being a former president of NFCUS. The head office is now located in Ottawa and has been there 4 years. Previously CUP operated with rotational regional filing offices and a part-time executive. The present executive of CUP consists of a full-time president and an advisory committee of student editors which meets at the annual conferences of CUP.

Literature published in the organization itself includes the following "The Canadian University Press is an association of Canadian university student newspapers, providing a national press service to member papers and striving to create opportunities for student journalists to emprove their standards."

At present twenty-four papers are members of CUP, including papers in every major city of Canada. In 1962 the French-language papers of Canada withdrew from CUP to form the "Presse Etudiante Nationale" (PEN) which they felt would better suit their needs. These two groups are both supported by NFCUS. Through its member newspapers, Canadian University Press presents news and features to over 90% of the English-speaking enrolement in Canada.

Working relationships with national and international agencies dealing with educational matters and student affairs maitained by CUP in an attempt to increase the Canadian student's knowledge of his country as a whole.

Annually a conference is held of member papers at which a programme is authorized, to be carried out by the full-time president. This year's conference is to be held Dec. 27-30 in Vancouver with the Ubyssey (UBC), and The Martlet (University of Victoria) as hosts. A Member of the Failt-Ye staff will have his expenses paid to and from the conference by CUP for this event. Regional conferenced are also held to aid in the co-ordination of the organization.

The Failt-Ye Staff, and Publications itself, are very much favor our proposed membership in this organization. It will undoubtably be of great interest to be present students and will aid the College immensely in the future.

EDITORIALS . . . COMMENTS

FAILT-YE TIMES

Orientation week has ended. Freshmen have been familiarized with the physical being that is Macdonald College. Students' Council did a more than adequate job of displaying the college and themselves to the newcomers in order that they feel welcome here.

It is important to note however that they are familiar only with the brick buildings and faces over name-tags. The subtle idea of school spirit has yet to be introduced to the freshman vocabulary. It is impracticle to expect a person, after being here for one week, to display a truly enthusiastic loyalty to the college. This can only come with time, and exams.

We must not allow ourselves to misinterpret the term "school spirit" however vague it may be. It can manifest itself only in actions loyal to the name of Macdonald College. Such pranks as the stealing and reckless driving of school buses cannot be condoned or excused as adding to the spirit of college life. Malicious damage caused by our students can only degrade the name of our school. Potential mischief makers would do well to remember the cardinal rule of all pranksters "If you can't be smart be funny".

Student's Council is the agency which on this campus channels school spirit into useful and constructive recreation. As it is composed of individuals the personal feelings of those individuals play a great part in dictating the policies of the organizations and activities they represent. It is therefore important for all students who intend to take an interest in the social life of Macdonald College to see that the council members in office truly do represent their feelings. This can be done only by nominating and campaigning for the candidate of your choice. This is only a beginning however as once elected these people will require the full support of those who elected them. If an active participation in our organ-Izations is realized this year will be looked back on as one of the best to date.

THE PECKING ORDER AND THE SO-CALLED MATERNAL INSTINCT

Many of you have observed that hens in a barnyard establish a sequence of authority in their habits. This phenomena manifests itself in mankind in the manner in which some men dominate their sphere whilst others sit back meekly and take orders. Studies have been made of different types of animals in their field and there have been very remarkable observations recorder. For instance, fish will school in a type of pecking order.

In Europe there is a bird called the Jackdaw which is a member of the crow family. Jackdaws tend to flock and establish a pecking order by rights of conquest. One of the most fascinating facts of the Jackdaw psychology is that the hen bird automatically acquires the rank of the cock when they are paired off. A similar occurance may be noticed at social functions where a meek-looking lady dominates the conservation due to the fact that her husband has rank.

One of the more recent postulates of some modern anthropologists is that territorial instinct superceded maternal instinct and that the maternal instinct is a degrader form of territorial instinct. This, by the way, is considered evolutionary by way of our leading psychologists and anthropologists as well as the average mother who won't

to the editor

Dear Sir;

At this time I would like to thank all those people who helped the Orientation Committee last week, with a special vote of thanks to Matti Pirhonen, Rap Nicholson, Harvey Macdonald and the Sophmore H. Ec. girls.

Joanne Bush, Chairman of Orientation

Dear Sir;

How many times last year was I reminded of the fact that I was a lowly grub! "Get down on your knees, frosh", "Carry this tray" "Move aside, move aside" "Oh, and by the way what's your name?" As time went on I became more crushed more brow - beaten, more brainwashed, until finally I became so depressed that I decided that I was pretty grubby after all. And so, lowly and downtrodden, I crawled around the campus trying to be insignificant.

But all this has passed.

Now I am a sophomore — suave, sophistocated and scintillating. Now I can lord it over the poor innocent freshmen and boss them around — but — I remember the misery of my youth.

Let's be human. I vote that we make this "Be Kind to Freshmen Year".

Gail Vallance.

Dear Sir:

Some people do not seem to be aware of the existance of the junior senior tables near the fireplace in the old dining hall. We reserve the privilege of sitting there, not because we consider ourselves worthier than the other students, but because the tables are traditionally ours. To my mind, tradition plays an important role in college life. It helps bind the college into a more unified whole. It would be poor taste on our part to ask any person who unwittingly sat down to leave, but I also think, after they have been informed they should respect our inalienable right.

Council Corner

Candidates in the forthcoming elections will be introduced at the Student Society Meeting on Monday. This assembly will also feature a short address by Dean H. G. Dion. In addition, questions may be asked concerning the new coffee shop. Brian Kennedy, Jim Banting, and Jane Hall are the members of the committee involved in getting the coffee shop into operation.

These arrangements for the Student Society Meeting were discussed by Council at last Monday's meeting.

Marilyn Maclennan (4th year H. Ec) was named Chairman of the Blood Drive Campaign for 1963. Marilyn would welcome participation by any interested students on her Committee.

This is a good activity because it is not only enjoyable and rewarding but over early in the school year. Check off October 24th as the red letter day, and keep your blood count up by eating liver every day . . . almost.

Joanne Bush deserves a special vote of thanks for her excellent job in organizing the Orientation of the frosh.

Don't buy a single Christmas card until you have seen the newly-designed Macdonald cards. Orders will be taken in the near future.

THE COLLEGE'S FIRST LADY

Joanne Bush, Vice-President of Students' Council is a girl to whom many of will have cause to be grateful before the end of this year. Talking to her is a pleasant experience, she gives the impression of being forthwight without being critical, a quality which is lacking in many of us.

Joanne has spent most of her life here in Quebec, except for a short sojourn in California and Arizona at the age of three. However, she spent last summer in Nova Scotia and thoroughly enjoyed it. One of her wishes is to see the rest of Canada before journeying forth into the rest of the world.

I questioned the lady about her ambitions and she says that she would like to work in Arizona and California for a while since she has relations there and also to earn enough money to travel about a bit, a very important consideration.

THE BATTLE HYMN OF THE KITCHEN

Tune — (Battle Hymn of the Republic) When cooking in a castle As they did in days of old The caldron wasn't jacketed The portions weren't controlled The layout wasn't practical The ice box wasn't cold But the food got out somehow.

Glory, glory, dedication Glory, glory, resignation Glory, glory, population For there was no lack of help.

In ages past, employees Led a life so very grim The hours were not un-i-on The lighting level dim The spoilage was fantastic And the wages oh so slim But the owner had it made.

Glory, glory, realization Glory, glory, resignation Glory, glory, federation And the labour costs went up.

New that cooking is a science And they've engineered our jobs We're told to push the buttons Turn the cranks and pull the knobs Thay say that just one employee He can feed the hungry mobs In this auto-matic age.

Glory, glory, lamination Glory, glory, sanitation Glory, glory, automation But does it really work.

Equipment is expensive The labour costs still high You add on new employees. Auto-mation is a lie And now the Uncle Sammy Has his fingers in the pie You were better off before.

Glory, glory, high taxation Glory, glory, regulation Glory, glory, operation You still go marching on.

Reprise

Glory, glory, inspiration What you need is inspiration Fresh ideas and inspiration So dining can endure.

THE GOD - MEN OF OUR CAMPUS

Once again the God-Men of Macdonald have already shown their usual lack of interest in campus activities. These God-Men are more familar to all of us as the great I-G's who have come to Macdonald feeling that our campus just isn't good enough for their cultured minds. Very little support is shown by any of these individuals to any of our activities. Recently they were approached by the Macdonald Royal Committee asking for representatives for the forthcoming Royal. This reporter was informed that not one of these intellectuals volunteered to assist with this year's Royal. A lot of time has been given by other students to help the Royal be a success and their lack of interest does not help the cause. Futher evidence of their lack of interest was shown when they got up and walked out of the meeting.

In the last two years, the Failt-Ye Times has not recieved one article from these high and mighty individuals. Why? Because they have about as much college spirit as the local bartender in Joe's. Instead of criticizing everything that is going on about, why dont't they do something about it. The first thing that they can do is answer this article if it isn't too much of a strain on their intellectual and elevated minds.

Activities in the Clan Office got underway with a general meeting of all the staff on Monday evening. Here are the people who will be responsible for your yearbook this year

Editor — Janet Walker, H. Ec. IV Associate Editor — Don Sutherland, Agr. IV Business Manager — Charlie Trail, Agr. IV Assistant Business Manager — Allan Pickett, Agr. III

Layout Editor — Don Stevenson, Agr. III Assistant Layout Editor - Ruth Garland, H. Ec. 111

Art Editor — Hugh MacDonald, Agr. 11 Photography Editor — Hans Schindler Typists, Proofreaders, Photographers and Clan-Representatives will round out our staff.

Plans for this year's book include two coloured pictures larger student activity pictures, more pages, and a padded cover.

Yearbook sales will take place from October 21st-26th. Last year close to 200 people were disappointed when they didn't get a copy of the Clan, because they didn't order it in the fall. Don't fall into this trap - order your book from your Clan Rep., or from one of the booths we have set up that week. Very few extra copies will be ordered so don't depend on getting one when they arrive in the sping.

Grad Pictures and Class Pictures will be taken next week. This is your yearbook and we want you in it. Be sure you know when your class picture will be taken and BE there on TIME! Timetables will be posted in the foyer outside the coffee shop and in the residences

You will be hearing more about Yearbook Sales during the next weeks so save your three dollars!

IMPRESSIONS

Primitive noises emanated from the Dining Hall at mealtime last Monday. The sophomore teachers were back! After having completed a two-weeks-plus period of observation and practice teaching in classrooms throughout the Province of Quebec, they were ready to be subdued to the dull grind of dusty lecture halls. In short, the teachers would now be taught.

Actually registration of students in the Institute of Education had begun on a bright sunny morning marking the 4th day of September. By 9 a.m. the angushed cries of returning sophomores could be heard from every direction on the fresh, sweet-smelling campus, called Macdonald. Later, there were more students to fill out forms, sign cheques, and stand numbly in long indefinite lines. Soberfaced 1G students followed the sophomores. These brave young men and women with their newly-won sheepskins clutched tightly in their fists were about to embark on new and dangerous travels. They would discover that in the noisiness of a child-filled classroom, there is little reverence held for defrees and academic laurels, and that friendliness is often rewarded by the peculiar mischief and antics of a bored class. Slowly, ever so slowly the intangible secrets of how to deal effectively and rewardingly with a class would be uncovered.

For the freshmen, it was different. They came armed with aspirations, dreams, doubts and some fears. What would it be like? Did they really drink at college? What courses should I take? How will I know which class to go and where? At times it seemed that the only wise thing to do would be to pack up and go home. Things would never straighten out.

Besides, you didn't even know anyone here and everyone was certainly more clever than you. Strange names floated through the air: Coffee Shop, Infirmary, oval, Joe's, etc., until they became entangled in a web-like dream. How could you ever read all those English books? Did the sophomores really come and "get" you in your room at night? Was there anything at all nice about the place?

The sun suddenly appeared from behind that cloud and engulfed you in its kind light. A voice called from behind you, "Hey frosh, carry those bags upstairs for me, will you?" Yes, it was going to be a nice place, Macdonald College.

The Beginning Has Begun

Last Saturday, September 21, '63, the first school dance of the year was held. This dance marked the end of the Freshman Orientation Week and the commencement of Students Activities. The Dance Committee, though just one of the many committees of the Students' Activities body, has in the past played its part well in furnishing entertainment for the student body as a whole and in some cases, as a group.

The Dance Committee this year, Intends to excell all previous Dance Committees' performances. On Saturday night, over 400 students attended the dance as compared with last year's 375 attendance. During the celebration, members of the Students Council were introduced in an informal but comical manner.

Unforgettable scenes in the procession during the introduction were the Vice-President, Joanne Bush, who was rolled in on a bed where she lay cosily in her duster and fanned the cares of life away; the Treasurer, Brian "Leaky" Kennedy, who clamped a regular business cigar in his kisser, wore a dilapidated and dingy 'ten' gallon hat, tucked a chest under one arm and clutched a bag of coins in the other. No one could have missed seeing the "Social Credit" sign which he bore on the lapel of his immaculate coat. If this procession had been carried of the stage, and with special lighting effects, anyone would have sworn the President of Men's Residence, Bill Sceviour, had been badly done in by his boys. He limped through the line with an amputated leg, a bandaged head smeared with blood, and with clothes almost torn to threads; oh! who will forget the President of the Literary and Debating Society, Eugene R. Terry, who portrayed Williams Shakespeare. He wore black tails and a black topper. But who has ever heard of or seen a black Shakespeare! The rest of the gang came on after which the dance continued with loy unconfined. Everyone thought the whole affair was a success.

I wish at this juncture, to express my sincere gratitude to the young ladies who gave up their time to decorate the hall; to the Band, The West Winds, who supplied the appropriate music; and finally to one and all who attended without whom there would have been no reveling.

Finally, before I close, let me say this about that; will representatives to the Dance Committee

ORIENTATION

With the Orientation program over for another year, the Freshmen have at last the chance to organize their lives again. This week nothing special has been planned by the Student Activities purposely so that class parties can be held without competition. For those who appreciate a quiet night of studying, there is no better time to burn the midnight oil, for your friends have left the security of their four walls to seek an evening in the wilds.

Before we forget this week, here is a brief outline of the last few days during Orientation.

Wednesdey night saw one of the largest crowds to attend a dance at Mac. About nine o'clock Freshmen had just had tea with the Dean and headed towards the Agriculture Building, to hear music supplied by Dance Committee records. An evening of dancing under the stars was enjoyed by more than Freshman students.

Thursday was almost rained out, but light showers in the afternoon just caused the Orientation Committee to alter their plans slightly. The Picnic supper for the Freshman Education students was held below the new Dining Hall instead of up in the Arboretum. The weather held out and the evening event was carried out as planned. Two large Bonfires built by Dick Smith lit up the South-West end of the football field. Entertainment was supplied by the "Four To Go Quartet" as well as "Ken and Lynne". Although technical difficulties were experienced with the loud speaker, Ray Nicholson was able to overcome them and aid greatly in making the evening a great success. The Soph H. Ec. Girls showed the peak of organization as they served refreshments to the crowds of hungry onlookers.

Fridap night in Ste. Anne was mass confusion, with Freshmen canvassing the homes of many startled citizens to request a feather, a lump of coal, or a glass of HIJK-LMNO (which means H2O). Organized by Ruth Garland, Ann Tanton, and Marilyn McLennan, the Scavenger Hunt also proved to be a success. Doughnuts and cocoa were served after by the Junior H. Ec. class, under the direction of Marilyn Kerr and Pat Fisher. Entertainment was supplied first by the Soph H. Ec. class, followed by a guitar duet by Joe Knox and Dave Armstrong.

On Saturday the football game between first year H. Ec. Agr. and Teachers brought out many Freshmen who played football for the first time. Students' Council and Students' Activities members refereed the game. At the end of the game The Aggies and Home Ec.'s lead the Teachers by a score of eight to seven.

The end of Orientation was brought about by the opening dance arranged by the Dance Committee.

We on the Orientation Committee hope that you the Freshmen enjoyed the week as much as we did. In future years you will be the HOSTS and we trust that you will not forget this past week at Mac so that you can also welcome a group such as yourselves.

Remember, the weeks ahead of you are filled with planned events but you no longer have your Upper-classmen to wait on you. Only YOU can make your decisions from now on. Choose with care and you will see the benefits that accompany careful planning and thought.

We, as Upper-classmen have tasted but a smattering of success up 'till now. Needless to say we like it and hope to satisfy our appetites very soon. We hope wou will take advantage of your situation here at Mac and follow in our footstore.

FRESHMEN BEWARE!

If you should, freshmen, in the course of your initiation to Chemistry lab, run across an apparatus commonly referred to as a bunsen burner with the rather uncommon attribute of having one of its parts, namely a needle valve, missing, you should inquire as to its peculiarity of the instructor. Do not be misled into believing that it is perhaps a new model with a selfadjusting needle valve, for that same harmless bunsen burner may blow up in your face and singe your beard! Claude X. BRITTAIN HALL'S NEW LOOK

There are some facilities in Brittain Hall open to all students of Macdonald which might be overlooked by commuters and indeed even by those new arrivals at the college. These are the gym and swimming pool.

The gym was re-done this summer including ceilings, walls, and the floor itself which is a bright glossy new seala-saud. For this reason there are some regulations to be followed in order to insure the long life of the floor. Sneakers are absolutely required, and rubber - soled sports shoes, be they as innocent looking and soft as possible, will not be tolerated. Wearing apparel should be preferrably shorts or gym clothes.

Facilities in the gym include: basketball, badminton, and volleyball courts. The apparatus for the playing of these latter sport also general gym equipment such as mats and weights are available in the gym. It is open to all Mac students when it is not being used for instructional purposes. The gym is located in Brittain Hall down toward the right wing facing room number 7.

As for the surrounding swimming pool floor, it has been renovated completely and includes such extras as "Overheard in Laird Hall: "Well I don't mind so much being on the shelf but I would like to be disted off once in awhile".

non-skid floors. The pool will not be finished, however, until mid October and at the time previous to its re-opening more will be said concerning its condition and regulations.

In the meantime Athletic Director Pugh cordially invites you to TAKE ADVAN-TAGE OF GYM FACILI-TIES and hopes that the swimming pool will be ready on or before the date speci-

AND WE LET THEM RUN OUR LIVES

CANADA THROUGH A SCOTS(CH) HAZE

From the air Montreal strikes one as an orderly, well faid out city, although if suddenly set down in the middle of Notre Dame Street this idea can be well and truly exploded, fortunately however it cannot compete with the maze like streets in most of the cities in Britrain. The size of cars, neon signs and highways are undoubtedly the most striking first impression to the foreigners from across the water, true such things can be seen on the movies but the real thing is always preferred.

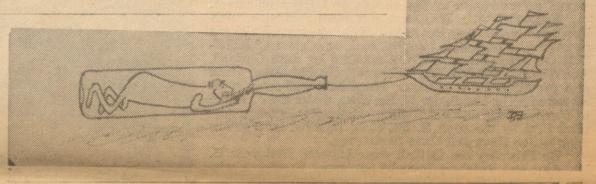

Students at Macdonald College are extremely fortunate in having such a pleasing and well laid out campus. Few universities in the U.K. have such beautiful natural surroundings, most in fact are in rather dingy and crowded industrial cities. There are also too few of them, and there are limited in size. It is a sad reflection on the Old country that it can only boast the same number of university students as Canada with 21/2 times as great a population. Openings too for graduate students are limited, and the pay poor. A teacher, for instance, can expect to start at a yearly salary of only $2,400. Even taking into account the sort of living difference the Canadian graduate teacher is in a for more healthy position financially and also from the facilities point of view. It is no small wonder that there is great concern at home over the loss of graduates. I for one cannot blame them for coming to Canada, or for that matter staying in Canada as many indeed do. Life here is ideally suited to younger people as the climate provides for a great variety of outdoor activities.

Canada has been good to this Scotsman and on leaving he would like to place this country among his fondest memories.

believe it anyway. Let us illustrate. A bird establishes a territory which remains his hunting grounds during the breeding season. If another bird of the same species approaches the territory, the resident birds will immediately drive the intruder off, even if there is a different type of bird or animal robbing the nest. This may also be part of the reason why parent birds drive their young off when they can fend for themselves and reach the stage where they begin to appear like adults of their species.

Recently, some experiments have been made with monkeys and anthropoid apes concerning the maternal instinct. It would appear that females which were separated from their mother at birth and from other young monkeys that were isolated entirely showed no interest in their offspring when they were bred and what is even more interesting, no interest in sex whatever. Offspring which were separated from their parents but not from each other showed great interest in sex and a slight interest in their offspring. Normally reared offspring behaved normally.

It can be seen from this that when this is all firmly established and sorted out it may have a profound effect on modern psychology.

When asked why she came to study H. Ec. at Mac, she replied that one of the Macdonald Home Economics professors had spoken to the grade nine students at Mac High. Joanne was so impressed that no other discipline has swayed her interests in Home Economics since.

As many of you know, Joanne was Vice-President two years ago. She says that this was a most trying experience since she felt so much younger and less experienced than her fellow councillors. Of course, experience is a good teacher, but people might well be warned by her difficulties and not take on something which might prove too much for them.

During her first term as Vice-President Joanne had the privilege of meeting the person who has most impressed her to date. - Hugh McLennan, the writer from Cape Breton, His appeal, she said, was has down-to-earth, neighbour-to-neighbour manner, coupled with an almost universal knowledge. Knowledge and organization impress Joanne very much, as they should all of us. Indeed knowledge can be almost overwhelming.

The charactaristic which she finds most annoying about people is that trait in which a person talks without giving due consideration to his words, in other words, thoughtless speech which may well hurt people.

Joanne has taken part in many student activities during her stay at the college, but the most satisfying to her were last year's Junior Prom and more recently. Orientation Week.

Her advice to students: "Take part in all the activities they are capable of handling without damaging their studies if they wish to enjoy life and become an integral part of the college".

All in all, she is a very personable young lady, a great credit to the college and the students who elected her.

MAGDONALD ATHLETICS

AGGIES

The 1963 Aggies began their season with an exhibition game against the Verdun Shamcats. The regular season begins on October 5th with a game against Bishop's who consider themselves the class of the league this year.

The league this year will have a different look than last year. Loyola and Sherbrooke have dropped out. New teams entered are McGill Indians and University of Montreal: There should be more balance than last year when Macdonald beat Sherbrooke 89 - 0 and lost to Loyola 64 - 2.

The Aggies are completely revamped from last year. Only six holdovers remain. Several players from previous years have returned, but a good crop of rookies is needed.

George Wall, the brother of a former Aggie stand out, is developing well at quarterback. Jeff Mills should provide a capable mate for Jim Dickie at end. Al Brewer will add strength to the backfield.

It appears that many players will have to go two ways and the line needs strengthening. But if injuries can be avoided, the Aggies can be counted on to give us plenty of fighting football this fall.

Yea Mac!

Cheerleader tryouts are in session! Practices will be held for the next couple of weeks, on Tuesday and Thursday nights, in Stewart Gym. Any girl who wishes to come will be very welcome; however, you must be prepared to spend your Saturdays at college plus give an hour a week for practices.

The first big item on the cheerleader program (after the final judging) will be the Pep Rally on the Friday night of Homecoming weekend. Then, on Saturday, the Mac Aggies will play Bishops and, of course, the cheerleaders will be out on the field urging our team to victory. During the course of the year, following this event, the cheerleaders will be present at all home football games and will travel to Bishops with the team, using their high spirits to help the team win.

When the football season Is over, it still isn't time for the cheerleaders to retire. Soon after, the session of basketball games begins and once more the spirit of our cheerleaders is required.

Well, we are looking forward to a wonderful season and I hope we can count on all you fans to come out and support our team along with the cheerleaders.

> GAIL HORTON Manager of the cheerleaders

Woodsmen

This year M.A.A. is sponsoring a Woodman's Intercollegiate Team to participate in at least three meets. The first meet will be held at U.N.B. Oct. 27/63, the second meet will be held at Macdonald Sat. Feb. 8/63 and the third meet will be held during the first week in May 1964.

Our coach is Mr. Bob Watson (Woodlot Mg. dept.).

Anyone interested please see Doug Avery Agr. III or Ed Kayler Agr. IV as soon as possible. Practising will commence early next week.

FRESHETTES

On Wednesday evening, a meeting was held of all the Freshettes on campus to explain the purpose of the W.A.A. Following the introduction of the W.A.A. executive and the managers duties the frosh class elected their representatives. We hope that the enthusiasm shown at this meeting will continue throughout the whole year.

The fall sports started this week with large turnouts for most events.

On Tuesday and Thursday night Stewart Hall Gym resounded to cries of "Failt-ye Failt-ye" as Gail Horton and her helpers trained the girls trying out for cheerleaders. Turn out at practices have been large. The permanent cheerleading team for this year will be picked on Wednesday night Oct. 2 so that they will be ready for the Pep Rally and the big Homecoming Weekend football game.

Beginner's classes in golf also started this week with the full number registered in the classes. Unfortunately due to timetable conflicts only one class could be held

There have been two intercollegiate soccer team practices this week under Miss Walker, the coach, Anyone who is interested in playing soccer can still join the practices, it is still not too late.

The Red Cross Instructors course started this week too, with a large number of students taking part.

The tennis team is also hard at work. Miss Edger, the coach, would like anyone who is interested in playing on the team to come to the practices at the courts on Mon. and Wed. night. Sign up sheets for the Tennis Tournament have been put up this week and from the number of entries so far it should be a very strong tournament.

Below is a list of the sports that will be taking place in Sept. and Oct.

PEP RALLY

Macdonald College posts another first!

There is going to be a Girls Intercollegiate Football Team? Evidence of this is supplied by the common sight of Soph and Senior Home Ecs practising hard at that usually allmale sport. But actually it's nothing as drastic as an intercollegiate team. Then what is the purpose of all this rigorous training? The Annual Pep Rally is planned for October 4th.

Traditionally this Rally is held prior to the first big Bishops-Mac Football Game - just to give the fellows a few pointers of course. Mac's great rivals, the Bishops Gaitors will be here on Saturday October 5th.

Last year a grand torchlight parade descended upon the football field Friday evening to burn an effigy of the rival team. After the cheering around the funeral pyre had died down plenty of spirit still remained. The Football and Soccer Teams were introduced. Then the game we were all waiting for; — those rough, tough Seniors set out to demonstrate the benefit of their extra years of experience at Macdonald over the Sophs. To head the spectators in our fine old college cheers the Senior and Aggies were on hand in their usual top form. If you were still rarin' to go after this pandemonium and I guarantee our football players were; you could hobble over to a dance in Stewart Hall.

This year Homecoming weekend is also being observed on October 5 th. There should be plenty of excitement and thrills in store for everyone so reserve the weekend of October 4th and 5th to go to the Pep Rally, Friday, and the BIG football Game on Saturday - the graduates are!
